A Magazine for Every Age and Interest

We think of our publications as a “family of magazines” that provides a continuous source of developmentally appropriate content for children as they grow. All children are different in terms of their interests and abilities, but our magazine lineup provides a ladder they can use to advance as they’re ready.
BABYBUG®
ages 6 months to 3 years

BABYBUG is the listening and looking magazine for infants and toddlers. It’s filled with simple stories, rhymes, and bright, colorful pictures. BABYBUG has sturdy pages, rounded corners, and no staples—just right for small hands.

CLICK®
ages 3 to 7

CLICK unlocks the universe for children by introducing them to science, art, nature, and the environment. It is devoted to the hows and whys of a child’s world: How is a house built? Why do camels have humps? How do wasps make nests?

LADYBUG®
ages 3 to 6

LADYBUG is for preschoolers and beginning readers. Beautiful, colorful, and delightful to read, each issue is filled with enchanting read-aloud stories, games for memory-building, and songs, poems, and activities.
ASK®
ages 7 to 10

ASK features the best in science, history, technology, and the arts. Kids will explore questions such as: Do animals have a sense of humor? What makes red look red? Every issue also includes cartoons, letters, and website recommendations.

SPIDER®
ages 6 to 9

SPIDER is fun for independent young readers. Every issue is filled with lively stories and poems, fascinating articles, and challenging puzzles, games, and projects—all designed to capture the hearts and minds of children beginning to read on their own.
MUSE®
ages 9 to 14

MUSE offers articles and experiences at the intersection of science, tech, and the arts. It takes intellectual curiosity seriously while never taking itself too seriously. It inspires a community of Musers, who seek avenues of expression and connection.

CRICKET® age 9 to 14

CRICKET gives its readers 48 pages of beautifully illustrated folk tales, fantasy, adventures, poems, fiction, history, biographies, science, sports, and contests. And—most of all—there’s lots of fun and humor!

Meet the Bartletts

Say hello to the Bartlett family of Worcester, Massachusetts. The family has two children, Briana (age 9) and Tyler (age 5), and the Bartlett household is always bustling with activity. After school, the kids rush to do their homework and devote some time to their reading logs before rushing out to an afternoon of activities, including soccer practice, foreign language classes, and music lessons.

Education is very important to this family. Mom Jamie always makes sure the kids do their homework. Each child is required to read at least 20 minutes a day. STEM topics, particularly science and math, are pushed for the kids, but reading good fiction is also considered important. Briana is an avid reader. She wants to be an inventor and actively searches out stories of new inventions and the people who create them. She will often create prototypes of her inventions out of recycled materials, Legos, or anything else she can get her hands on. Tyler loves the outdoors and is willing to brave rain, sleet, heat, and snow to be out in nature. His interests include bugs, dinosaurs, and anything found in the dirt. His room is full of his collections of rocks, shells, and dead bugs ("Yuck!" says Briana). Spring break is coming and the family is hoping to address the interests of both kids, so they’re heading to a national park where they’ll camp out in nature while attending a family camp focused on inventing. Both Briana and Tyler can’t wait!
Families of Cricket Media® readers have active minds and bodies, and value nature and culture.
