OVERVIEW

In this magazine, readers will learn about different beliefs and values and how they influence the way characters and people behave. Cricket: April 2017 includes information about the experiences of a Jewish family living in Portugal during the Spanish Inquisition, the beauty of the setting sun in Venice, the benefits and drawbacks of sharing the planet with insects, and relationships between humans and animals.

ESSENTIAL QUESTION:

How do beliefs and values influence the way characters behave?
Using This Guide

We invite you to use this magazine as a flexible teaching tool, ideal for providing interdisciplinary instruction of social studies and science content as well as core literacy concepts. Find practical advice for teaching individual articles or use a mini-unit that helps your students make cross-text connections as they integrate ideas and information.

READ INDIVIDUAL ARTICLES PAGES 4 – 12

Each article in this magazine is well-suited for teaching literacy concepts and content area knowledge. For each individual article in this guide, you’ll find the following:

- Prepare to Read
  - CCSS Speaking and Listening 1, 2, 4

- Close Reading and Text Analysis
  - CCSS Reading 1-10

- Writing/Speaking and Listening
  - CCSS Writing 1, 2, 3 & 6
  - CCSS Speaking and Listening 1, 2, 4

- Content Concepts
  - C3 Framework for Social Studies
  - Next Generation Science Standards

- Key Vocabulary
  - CCSS Reading 4

- Essential Question

TEACH A MINI-UNIT PAGES 14 – 16

Magazine articles can easily be grouped to make cross-text connections and comparisons. Our Mini-Unit allows students to read and discuss multiple articles and integrate ideas and information (CCSS.Reading.9). Discussing multiple articles (CCSS.Reading.9) prepares students to write texts to share and publish in a variety of ways (CCSS.Writing.2).
Essential Question: How do beliefs and values influence the way characters behave?

In 1497, the king of Portugal forced all Jews in his kingdom to convert to Christianity and take on Christian names. Many of the Jews who converted continued to practice Judaism in secret. This story describes the experiences of a Jewish family in Portugal during this period.

PREPARE TO READ

Point out Lisbon, Portugal, on a world map and explain that this story is set in Lisbon almost 500 years ago. Read aloud the historical note on pages 10-11. Stop on page 11 after the sentence that begins, “As conditions worsened....” Discuss students’ thoughts and reactions. Then have them read the story.

CLOSE READING AND TEXT ANALYSIS

Key Ideas
- Which characters in this story show bravery? How do they show it? Support your response with details from the text.
  CCSS Reading 3
- How can you tell that Samuel and his family feel strongly about their religion? Use details from the text to support your response.
  CCSS Reading 3
- How does Samuel react when Diego calls him a name? Why does he react this way? Cite details from the story to support your response.

- Analyze Word Choice Papa explains that La Senora helps Jews escape “the claws of the Inquisition.” What do you visualize when you read this phrase? What ideas about the Inquisition does it convey?
  CCSS Reading 4
- Analyze Historical Fiction Historical fiction is based on facts about a certain time in history. This story tells about Portugal during the Inquisition. What do you learn about this period from the story?
  CCSS Reading 5

SPEAKING AND LISTENING

Collaborate Just before Samuel gets on the ship, he cuts a small stem from his grandfather’s lemon tree. Samuel wants to plant it in his new home. Get together with a small group of classmates to discuss these questions:
- Why does Samuel want to grow a new lemon tree?
- Why are family traditions important?

Take turns speaking and listening.
ARTICLE: Venice at Sunset
Magazine page 12, Lyrical Poem

The speaker in this poem describes in detail the beauty of the sun setting over St. Mark’s Cathedral in Venice, Italy.

PREPARE TO READ

Explain that the next poem is about Venice, a very beautiful city in Italy that is spread across 117 small islands separated by canals. Show photos of Venice (available online) and go over the vocabulary list, pointing out examples of the items in the list. Finally, read the poem aloud.

CLOSE READING AND TEXT ANALYSIS

Key Ideas
• What did you notice about this poem? What did you like or dislike about it? Cite details from the poem to support your response. CCSS Reading 1
• What details about time and place, or setting, do you learn from the poem? Use information from the poem to support your response. CCSS Reading 3
• What does the speaker mean when she says “Even the bridges sigh at dusk”? Support your response with details from the poem. CCSS Reading 3

Craft and Structure
• Analyze Imagery The poet used imagery to create a picture of Venice at sunset in your mind. How do you imagine “crumbling facades” to look? Identify three other images and describe what you pictured. CCSS Reading 4
• Analyze Tone What is the speaker doing? How do you think the speaker feels about Venice at sunset? Discuss your ideas with a partner. Then work together to find the words, images, and details that create this tone. CCSS Reading 4

WRITING

Write a Poem Find a place to observe your town at sunset. You might go to a park, the public library, or your own front steps. Bring a notebook and pencil. Sit quietly and use all of your senses to take notice of everything around you. Jot down your ideas. Then use them to write a poem. In your classroom, combine your poem with those of your classmates to create one long poem titled “[Your Town] at Sunset.” Perform a group reading of the poem for another class.

ESSENTIAL QUESTION

How do beliefs and values influence the way characters behave?

CORE CONTENT CONCEPT

Language Arts Poets create imagery by describing details a person might see while looking at a scene. The words the poet chooses help readers imagine the scene.

CROSS-CURRICULAR EXTENSION

Art Venice is filled with beautiful mosaics—pictures or designs made with small colored stones or pieces of glass. Learn about mosaics using the library or internet. Then draw or make your own mosaic. Share your art and information with the class.

KEY VOCABULARY

facades (p. 12) the fronts of buildings lapis (p. 12) a deep blue stone that is used in jewelry mosaics (p. 12) a decoration on a surface made by pressing small pieces of colored glass or stone into a soft material that then hardens to make pictures or patterns gondolas (p. 12) a long narrow boat used on the canals of Venice
In return for freeing a strange old man from a trap in the woods, Murik is given a magic sack that can take him anywhere he wants to go. He plans to use it to buy a birthday present for his wife. One night, a mouse skitters into the bag and both disappear. Murik must find the missing bag so he can give his wife a wonderful present.

PREPARE TO READ

 Invite students to name books and movies that include magic. Ask volunteers to explain how magic is important in these works. Then read aloud the title of the story and preview the pictures. Have students predict how the magic sack will be important in the story.

CLOSE READING AND TEXT ANALYSIS

Key Ideas

- How does Murik get the magic sack? Use details from the text to support your response. CCSS Reading 1
- What do you think Murik values, or thinks is important, in life? Support your information with details from the story. CCSS Reading 3
- How do Murik’s values influence the way he behaves in the story? Cite details from the story to support your response. CCSS Reading 3

Craft and Structure

- Analyze Text Structure  What events in the story happen as a result of the magic sack? Work with a partner to make a list of these events. Then discuss how the story would change if Murik hadn’t received the sack. CCSS Reading 5
- Analyze Point of View  This story is told from the third-person point of view by an outside narrator. Choose a scene from the story and rewrite it from Murik’s point of view. How does this change the scene? CCSS Reading 6

Write a Personal Narrative  What would you do with a magic sack? Write a short essay to describe how you would use the sack. Explain in detail why you would use it this way. Read your essay to the class.
ARTICLE: The Great Grasshopper Mystery
Magazine pages 17 - 21, Narrative Nonfiction

Through narrative and factual information, this article describes the terrible locust plagues endured by settlers living on the Great Plains in the late 1870s. In 1875, the locusts became suddenly and mysteriously extinct. Over 100 years later, this mystery was finally solved.

PREPARE TO READ

Explain that locusts are grasshopper-like insects that can form massive groups, called swarms. Show a short video of a locust swarm from the internet. Explain that swarms can eat up to 400 million pounds of plants each day. Discuss how locust swarms probably affect farming areas and the people who live in them.

CLOSE READING AND TEXT ANALYSIS

Key Ideas
- What mystery does this article explain? Cite details from the text to support your response. CCSS Reading 1
- What causes locust plagues? Use information from the text to support your response. CCSS Reading 1
- How did Jeffrey Lockwood solve the great grasshopper mystery? Support your answer with details from the text. CCSS Reading 2

Craft and Structure
- Analyze Text Structure This article uses a cause-and-effect text structure to describe locust plagues on the Great Plains in the 1870s. Use the Cause-Effect graphic organizer (p. 19) to analyze information in this article. CCSS Reading 5
- Analyze Perspectives Settlers valued hard work and strength. They relied on themselves during tough times and refused to give up. How did these values influence the way the settlers reacted to locust swarms? CCSS Reading 6

SPEAKING AND LISTENING

Write a Diary Entry: The Pioneer Life Write about daily life as if you were a settler—a father, husband, worker, mother, wife, or child. First conduct research to find out more about the daily lives of settlers on the American frontier. Then write from the first-person point of view, using I and me. Include lots of specific details about daily life to make up the story of your settler. Then read your writing to the class. Use gestures and the tone of your voice to make your presentation interesting.
Insects are a protein-rich food source that people around the world include in their diets. So why hasn't the United States embraced entomophagy, or eating insects? The author describes nutritional, economic, and environmental advantages to adding bugs to our daily diet.

ESSENTIAL QUESTION
How do beliefs and values influence the way characters behave?

CORE CONTENT CONCEPT
Language Arts Information used to support an author’s claims is called evidence. Evidence may be facts, figures, details, quotations, or other sources of information.

CROSS-CURRICULAR EXTENSION
Social Studies Find out if you can buy insect products at nearby supermarkets. Interview a store manager to find out how long the store has been selling insect products and how well they sell. If possible, try some of the products.

KEY VOCABULARY
larvae (p. 22) a very young form of an insect that looks like a worm consumption (p. 23) the act of eating or drinking something mindset (p. 24) a person’s attitude or set of opinions about something delicacy (p. 24) a food that people like to eat because it is special or rare

PREPARE TO READ
Ask if students have ever eaten insects and if they would. Discuss different ways of eating insects, such as ground up into flour for baking, mixed in a sauce with more common ingredients, deep-fried whole, or chocolate covered. Explain that the next article may persuade students to eat more bugs.

CLOSE READING AND TEXT ANALYSIS

Key Ideas
- How have Americans’ beliefs about insects influenced the use of insects as food here? Use details from the text to support your response. CCSS Reading 1
- What are the economic benefits of eating insects? Cite details from the text to support your answer. CCSS Reading 1
- How might bugs be an important source of food in the future? Support your response with details from the text. CCSS Reading 1

Craft and Structure
- Analyze Author’s Purpose Authors write to inform, persuade, or entertain readers. Sometimes an author has more than one purpose for writing. Why did this author write about eating insects? Support your ideas. CCSS Reading 6
- Evaluate Evidence The author states that Americans will probably change their minds about eating insects. How does she support this idea? Was the evidence sufficient to convince you? CCSS Reading 8

SPEAKING AND LISTENING

Give an Entomophagy Fair Presentation Work with a partner or small group to create a presentation about entomophagy. Here are a few ideas: create and present a poster showing the health and environmental benefits of eating insects, demonstrate an insect recipe, make an advertisement for a restaurant that specializes in insect dishes, or design a special dinner menu full of insect dishes. Use the internet to find information for your presentation. Then present your project to the class.
If eating real insects isn’t something you’re ready for, try these two recipes. Yes, they do include bugs, but only the plastic and gummy variety.

PREPARE TO READ

Tell students to listen for verbs as you read aloud these sentences: Stir the sauce. Chop the onion. Slice the ham. Ask volunteers to identify the verbs and describe what they have in common. Explain that the verbs are in the imperative or command form (i.e. they’re directions), often used in recipes.

CLOSE READING AND TEXT ANALYSIS

Key Ideas

- What is the goal of this article? Support your response with details from the text. CCSS Reading 1
- What would happen if you tried to make these recipes just before your guests arrived? Cite details from the text to support your response. CCSS Reading 1
- How do you think party guests would react if they were offered these two dishes? Use details from the text to support your response. CCSS Reading 1

Craft and Structure

- Analyze Word Choice Verbs in recipes are often in the imperative form. With a partner, find and list the imperative verbs in the recipes. Then find and list words that tell when to do something, such as after or before. CCSS Reading 4

Compare Texts Compare the bugsickle and bugjoose recipes. Look closely at the recipe titles and the “What You’ll Need” and “What to Do” sections. Use a Venn diagram (p. 20) to record the similarities and differences. CCSS Reading 9

WRITING

Write a Recipe Many families have recipes that they serve on birthdays, holidays or other special occasions. Create a recipe article using one of your family’s favorite recipes. First, copy the recipe on a piece of paper. Then write an introduction for the recipe that describes why it is special to your family or tells a story about it. Create a title for the recipe if it doesn’t have one already. Then add illustrations. Share your article with the class.
Lily loves all creatures great and small, including spiders, and believes that all lives are precious. When caterpillars begin to destroy the leaves of her beloved grapevine, Lily must figure out how to save her plant without hurting the insects that are eating it.

PREPARE TO READ

Discuss how students feel about bugs and insects. Then use the following questions to prompt discussion: Can bugs be cute? Should people feel guilty for killing insects? Are there times when we shouldn’t kill bugs? After the discussion, explain that the girl in this story does not believe in killing bugs.

CLOSE READING AND TEXT ANALYSIS

Key Ideas

- What is ahimsa? Cite details from the text to support your response.
  CCSS Reading 1
- What does Lily believe about how living things should be treated? Cite details from the text to support your response. CCSS Reading 3
- How do Lily’s beliefs affect her actions and behavior? Support your ideas with details from the text. CCSS Reading 3

Craft and Structure

- Analyze Perspectives  What is Lily’s attitude toward the moths and caterpillars on her grapevine? Compare this with the attitudes expressed by the man at the greenhouse and the internet article Lily reads.  CCSS Reading 6
- Compare Texts  Read the poem on page 32. How are the ideas in this poem connected to the ideas and events in the story? How do you think Lily would feel about this poem? Discuss your ideas with a partner. CCSS Reading 9

WRITING

Research and Write a Persuasive Speech  Conduct research to learn more about nonviolence, the practice of using peaceful means to bring about different types of change. What are some examples of nonviolence? Why did civil rights leaders like Martin Luther King Jr. in the United States use nonviolence? What other leaders have used nonviolence? Write a one-minute speech where you argue whether nonviolence is successful. Give your speech to the class.
Percy Plumb is a librarian who dreams of being a cowboy. When Percy adopts a kind, slow-moving horse named Bob, he realizes his cowboy dreams may not come true. One day when a farmer’s cows get loose in the town, Bob and Percy come to the rescue.

PREPARE TO READ

Preview the illustrations with students and discuss what students infer from them. Then have students make and write predictions about what will happen in this story. Invite students to share predictions. Then tell them to check their predictions as they read the story.

CLOSE READING AND TEXT ANALYSIS

Key Ideas
- How does Percy’s desire to be a real cowboy affect his actions and behavior? Support your response with details from the story. CCSS Reading 3
- How does Percy change over the course of the story? Are the changes positive or negative? Use details from the text to support your answer. CCSS Reading 3
- Use story details to explain how the story shows this theme: “Sometimes life doesn’t turn out the way you thought it would, and that’s OK.” CCSS Reading 2

Craft and Structure
- Analyze Word Choice Go back through the story to find details about Bob. What ideas about Bob do you get from these details? How do these details make the climax surprising? CCSS Reading 4
- Analyze Text Structure What is the climax, or point of greatest excitement, in this story? Why is it positioned where it is in the text? How might your understanding of the story change if its position changed? CCSS Reading 5

WRITING

Create a Comic Strip Story Choose one scene from the story and turn it into a comic strip. First, plan out the pictures you will draw and the text you will include in each box. Next, make revisions to your ideas. Finally, create your finished strip. Post your comic strip in the classroom or submit it to your school newspaper.
A storm is about to break as April Rose struggles to move her family’s flock of sheep from the meadow into the barn. With the help of her dogs, she manages to get them to safety. Just when April Rose is about to head home, she begins to worry that one of the sheep is still outside in the storm.

ESSENTIAL QUESTION
How do beliefs and values influence the way characters behave?

CORE CONTENT CONCEPT
Language Arts  Story events and conflicts can cause characters to change and grow.

CROSS-CURRICULAR EXTENSION
Language Arts  The English language is full of expressions that use the word “sheep.” Use the internet or library to create a list of sheep expressions. For each expression, write its meaning and a sentence that uses it. Share your work.

KEY VOCABULARY

straddle (p. 40) to sit or ride with a leg on either side of something crest (p. 42) the highest part or point of something, such as a hill or wave

loped (p. 44) ran in a relaxed way with long strides

feinting (p. 44) pretending to make an attack as a trick to fool your opponent

PREPARE TO READ
Explain to students that April Rose is responsible for getting her family’s flock of sheep into the barn. Ask students if they think this is too much responsibility for a 12-year-old. Then invite students to name some of their responsibilities. Finally, have students read the story.

CLOSE READING AND TEXT ANALYSIS

Key Ideas
- April Rose wants to prove she can take care of the sheep. How do her actions show this? Support your response with details from the text.  CCSS Reading 3
- Early in the story, April Rose had a hard time making decisions. Has she changed? If so, how? Support your response with story details.  CCSS Reading 3
- How does the setting present challenges for April Rose and the animals? Use details from the story to support your response.  CCSS Reading 3

Craft and Structure
- Analyze Plot When you analyze a plot, ask yourself why the author included each event. Why do you think the author included the information on page 40 about how April Rose got Ma into the barn?  CCSS Reading 5
- Analyze Point of View Rewrite a story scene in the first-person point of view from the perspective of an animal in the scene. Include the animal’s thoughts and feelings. How does this change the scene?  CCSS Reading 6

Judge a Character Is April Rose doing a good job so far taking care of the sheep on her farm? Work in a group to discuss this question. Rate April Rose’s performance as Fantastic, Fair, or Not Good. Then get together with other groups to compare and discuss your ratings.
SYNTHESIZE: Guide students to compare articles they read. Help students find the connections between pieces of information in multiple articles. Use prompts, such as the following examples, to have students work together to Integrate Ideas and Information (CCSS.Reading.9).

- What did you learn about the different religions described in “The Inside Name” and “Ahimsa”? Create a chart and write the names of the religions as column heads. Then list information about the customs, history, and beliefs of each religion in the appropriate columns. When you are finished, get together with one or two classmates and discuss the ways in which these religions seem similar and different.

- In this issue of Cricket, you read and thought about different values and beliefs. What values and beliefs are conveyed by the different texts in the magazine? Create a four-column chart. Use the following value words as column heads: kindness, freedom, hard work, usefulness. Match each text from the magazine to one of these values and write the titles in the appropriate columns. Do any texts fit into more than one column? Are there any texts that don’t seem to fit into any column? Identify the values conveyed by these and create new columns for them. Finally, discuss your ideas with classmates.

- Compare ideas about bugs in “The Great Grasshopper Mystery,” “Bugalicious Party Recipes,” and “Fried Crickets, Anyone?” Write a short essay to describe how the ideas are similar and different. Identify the form or genre of each article and explain how this might influence the way the ideas are presented.

- Compare the main characters in “Ahimsa” and “April Rose in Charge.” How are Lily and April Rose similar and different? Discuss the problem each girl faces and how she tries to solve the problem. Use a Venn diagram (p. 20) to record your ideas. Then write a short paragraph to answer this question: Could Lily and April Rose be friends? Support your response with details from the stories.

- There are many different verbs that describe how a person or animal moves. Ran, slithered, and skipped are three examples. Look through “The Great Grasshopper Mystery,” “Percy Plumb, Cowboy,” and “April Rose in Charge” for words and phrases that describe how animals and people move. Make a list and compare it with classmates to see if they found the same words. Then take turns making up sentences using these words and phrases.
This mini-unit offers students an opportunity for an in-depth analysis of characters’ traits, beliefs, and values. Students will identify and discuss the beliefs of different characters from the magazine. Then they will go back into the texts to help them write questions for some of the magazine characters. Finally, they will engage in a hot seat activity using the questions they wrote.

ENGAGE: Engage students in the topic of what characters believe by first reviewing the Essential Question: How do beliefs and values influence the way characters behave? Work with students to identify the beliefs of different characters in the magazine texts and record them in a chart like the one below. Create a similar chart for characters’ values. Discuss how the characters show their beliefs and values through their behavior.

I BELIEVE . . .

Murik
“Murik and the Magic Sack”
Kindness is its own reward.

Felipe/Samuel
“The Inside Name”
People should be free to practice their chosen religion.

Lily
“Ahimsa”
There is no good reason to kill another creature.
READ FOR A PURPOSE

INTRODUCE THE ACTIVITY: CHARACTER HOT SEAT Tell students that they are going to work in groups to take part in an activity called Hot Seat. Explain that group members will be assigned a character from the magazine to impersonate. Continue by explaining that each group member will take a turn sitting in the hot seat chair and being interviewed by the other members of his or her group. Make sure students understand that the person in the hot seat must answer the questions from their assigned character’s perspective. List the three parts of this activity on the board:

1. Get to know your assigned character by reviewing the story.
2. Write 2-3 interview questions for each of the characters in your group.
3. Take part in Hot Seat.

With a student volunteer, quickly model the hot seat procedure. Then create groups and assign characters in each group.

Activity Tips

• Choose four texts from the magazine to use for this activity and focus on the main character in each text.
• Organize the class into groups of four. In each group, assign a different character to each student.
• If you have extra students, create groups of five and allow two students to play the same character so that all four characters are represented in each group and no one is left out.

RETURN TO THE TEXT: Explain to students that before they can take part in the Hot Seat, they need to get to know the characters they will be impersonating in the activity. Distribute a copy of the My Character graphic organizer (p. 17) to each student. Have students reread the story their character appears in and take notes about their character using the organizer.

When all students have finished, allow students impersonating the same character to get together and share notes and ideas about the questions they might be asked.
APPLY: CHARACTER HOT SEAT Now that students have studied their assigned characters, they are ready to write interview questions for the other characters in their groups and play Hot Seat.

Materials
- completed My Character graphic organizers
- Hot Seat Questions graphic organizer (p. 18), one per student
- a bell or timer
- a hot seat chair, stool, or pillow for each group

STEP 1: Build Background Remind students that they will be working independently to write 2-3 questions for each character in the group, including their own character. Explain that questions should be open-ended and should not be able to be answered with a simple yes or no or with simple details from the story. Go over the following question types and examples with students:
  - Background questions: What kinds of magazines do you like to read?
  - Specific questions: How did you feel about your decision to ...?
  - Questions about story events: Why didn’t you change your name permanently?
  - Questions beyond the story: Do you think breaking the law is ever justified?

STEP 2: Write Questions Have students refer to the magazine stories and use the question stems in the Hot Seat Questions graphic organizer to help them write their 2-3 questions for each character. Remind students that questions can ask why characters did or said certain things and how characters felt about events or other characters, or their questions can go beyond the story. Have students reread their questions and think about how the characters might answer them. It is okay for students to draw inferences about how characters might respond as long as their inferences are based on evidence in the text. Tell students to revise questions that are too simple or that can be answered with a yes or no.

STEP 3: Get in the Hot Seat Have students assemble in their groups and make sure each group has a hot seat. Remind students that the answers they give when they are on the hot seat should be based on their understanding of the character. Announce which character in each group will take the hot seat (“For the next seven minutes, all April Roses will be in the hot seat!”) Then walk around the classroom and provide guidance and encouragement as necessary. Use a timer or bell to signal when to stop. Announce the next character to take the hot seat. Continue until all group members have had a spot in the hot seat. (NOTE: If two group members are impersonating the same character, have them take turns answering different questions from their group members.) Variation: Hold a whole class hot seat activity by having one character or a panel of characters sit in front of the class and answer questions.

Meeting State and National Standards: Core Instructional Concepts

The articles in this magazine provide a wealth of opportunities for meeting state and national instructional standards. The following pages contain charts listing Core Instructional Concepts for each of three curricular areas: English Language Arts, Science, and Social Studies.

USING THE STANDARDS CHARTS

ELA
Corresponding CCSS anchor standards have been listed next to each item on the Core Instructional Concepts chart. To customize the chart, add your own grade, state, or district standards in the last column. Match the concepts and standards from the chart to the activities on each page of the Teacher’s Guide to complete your lesson plans.

SOCIAL STUDIES
Content Concepts in each Article Guide are based on Dimension 2 of the CS Framework for Social Studies: Applying Disciplinary Concepts and Tools. Use the last column in the accompanying chart to correlate these concepts to your state or district standards.

SCIENCE
Content Concepts in each Article Guide are drawn from the Three Dimensions of the Next Generation Science Standards. You will also find connections to these concepts within individual close-reading questions.

MATH
Content Opportunities for math activities are provided in the Cross-Curricular extensions on each Article Guide page.

DIMENSION 1: SCIENTIFIC AND ENGINEERING PRACTICES

Dimension 1 focuses on the practice of science, and how knowledge is continually adapted based on new findings. The eight practices of the K-12 Science and Engineering Curriculum are as follows:

- Asking questions (for science) and defining problems (for engineering)
- Developing and using models
- Planning and carrying out investigations
- Analyzing and interpreting data
- Using mathematics and computational thinking
- Constructing explanations (for science) and designing solutions (for engineering)
- Engaging in argument from evidence
- Obtaining, evaluating, and communicating information

DIMENSION 2: CROSSCUTTING CONCEPTS

Dimension 2 provides an organizational schema for integrating and interrelating knowledge from different science domains. The eight NGSS Crosscutting Concepts are as follows:

- Patterns
- Similarity and Diversity
- Cause and Effect
- Scale, Proportion, and Quantity
- Systems and System Models
- Energy and Matter
- Structure and Function
- Stability and Change

DIMENSION 3: DIMENSIONS AND DISCIPLINARY CORE IDEAS

Dimension 3 presents a contained set of Disciplinary Core Ideas to support deeper understanding and application of content. The following chart details Core Ideas for curriculum, instructional content, and assessments within four domains.
