

Cartoon Connection

with EBENEZER & The COLONEL by KE Lewis

One fine day in the Civil War South...

I'm fascinated by the daring choices made by women during the CIVIL WAR. Can you imagine being in DISGUISE?

SURE! Brave...daring.. WHATEVER.

But When's LUNCH?

I have to get this message to our troops! I must deliver it to them TONIGHT!!!

But sister! You are expected to attend the Confederate Cotillion tonight. If you don't show up, you'll be MISSED!

LATER THAT EVENING...

I have an IDEA! All I need is a likely VOLUNTEER...

Who... me?

Hello, friend! How would you like a FREE BANQUET?

Now YOU are speaking MY LANGUAGE!

Presenting Miss Ella and her escort, COLONEL CROW!

Your sister doesn't seem HERSELF tonight. Are you sure she's feeling all right?

Why it's nothing, dear sir. She simply worries about the WAR.

How's it going "ELLA-NEZER?" still fascinated by DISGUISES?

ooooooohh! This CORSET is KILLING me!

*A COTILLION is a formal ball, especially one at which young women were presented to society. It's also a name for the lively dances performed at such functions.
