

Click & the Kids

story and art by Betsy Page Brown

Amy

Martin

Click

Liz
(the sitter)

art museum

Look, Martin, an artist at work.

Maybe she's painting a picture for the museum. Let's get closer and watch.

Hey! It's exactly the same.

Excuse me, but why are you copying that picture? Does the museum need an extra one?

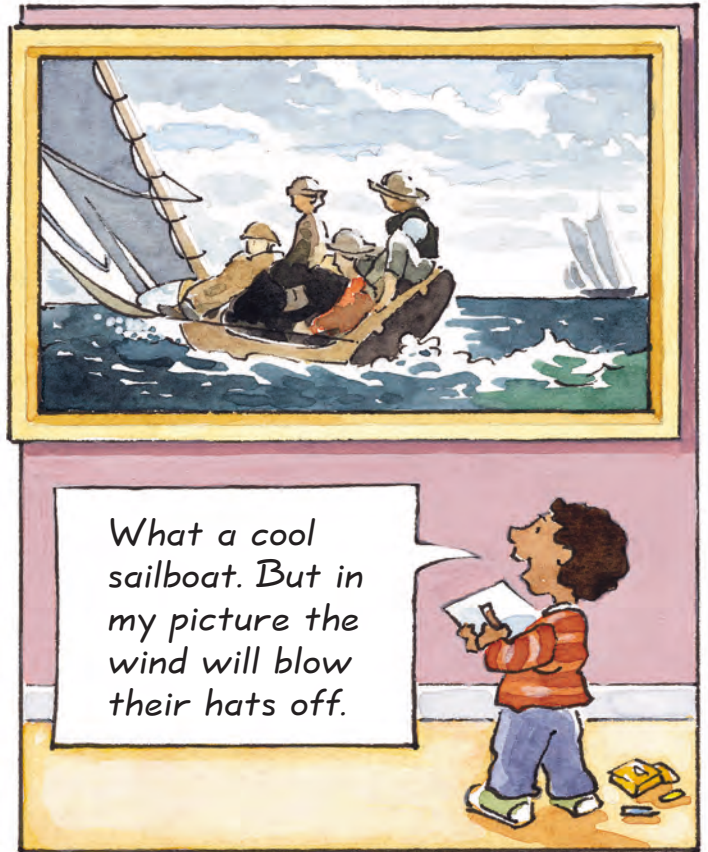

No, no. They're happy to have just one. I copy pictures to learn how the great artists painted. Then I use what I learn in my own paintings.

Maybe you'd like to copy MY pictures. I'm a great artist.

Look what I brought, Amy and Martin. Want to try some copying yourselves?

SURE!

Wow! Up close you can see this whole picture is made out of dots.

It must have taken FOREVER! I think I'll just copy the monkey.

Dot Dot Dot...

This queen must have been important. Look at all the pearls and bows the artist had to paint.

This artist painted just one flower, but it's giant size.

LATER at HOME

Thanks for taking us to see the paintings, Liz.

Copying was a lot of fun. And now we have our own art museum.

I did a few mouseterpieces myself.

Mona Mouse

Mouse with a Pearl Earring

Still Life with Mouse

Self-Portrait

